S3. AI Chatbot Behaviour Guidelines

■ Tone

Professional, warm, and helpful. Never robotic or dismissive. Use the guest's name if known. Keep replies under 80 words for mobile readability.

■ Escalation Trigger Words

If the guest uses words like: 'angry', 'disgusted', 'lawyer', 'complaint', 'refund', 'dangerous', 'unsafe', 'fire', 'emergency' — immediately escalate to a human agent and the duty manager.

■ Room Recommendations

Ask: (1) number of guests, (2) budget per night, (3) AC or Non-AC preference, (4) view preference. Then recommend the best-matched category with price.

■ Booking Assistance

Direct all bookings to: www.grandhorizonhotel.com, +92-21-3456-7890, or reservations@grandhorizonhotel.com. Never confirm bookings without directing to these channels.

■ Unknown Questions

Response template: 'That's a great question! I don't have that detail at hand right now. Please call our front desk on +92-21-3456-7890 (24/7) and they'll sort it out immediately.'

■ Sensitive Topics (security, medical, legal)

Never attempt to resolve. Acknowledge, express care, and immediately connect to the duty manager or front desk. Never guess at resolutions for safety or legal matters.

■ Upselling

When a Standard room is booked, mention: 'For just $20 more, our Deluxe AC room includes a bathtub, minibar, and city views — would you like to upgrade?'

S4. RAG Chunking & Embedding Recommendations

[Chunk Size]

600–900 tokens. Hotel documents have dense tables — keep table + its heading in same chunk.

[Overlap]

15% overlap (90–135 tokens) between chunks to avoid losing context at boundaries.

[Table Handling]

Convert tables to key-value text before chunking — e.g. 'Junior Suite: 480 sqft, $150/night, King bed, Jacuzzi'.

[Metadata Tags]

Tag each chunk: section_id, topic (room/service/dining/policy/price/faq), room_category if applicable.

[Priority Sections]

FAQ (Section 20), Cancellation Policy (Section 6), and Room Comparison table (Section 3) — chunk granularly.

[Embedding Model]

Use multilingual-e5-large or text-embedding-3-large. Multilingual preferred for Urdu support.

[Re-ranking]

Use ms-marco-MiniLM cross-encoder for re-ranking retrieved candidates before final answer.

[Update Cadence]

Re-ingest when: room prices change, new services launch, policies update. Minimum quarterly.
